

The exterior of Nightmare, the brand new interactive haunted house by Alterface and TAA at TusenFryd, Norway's largest amusement park.

L'esterno di Nightmare, la nuovissima casa fantasma interattiva di Alterface e TAA, installata nel parco più grande della Norvegia, il TusenFryd.

5 SIDES TO FEAR

The first 5D attraction in Europe: an interactive haunted house by Alterface opened this season in TusenFryd with animatronic effects and themed environment by TAA

The scariest news of the year come from Norway. Nightmare is this year's big new attraction in TusenFryd, Norway's largest amusement park, and it is a unique attraction that combines 3D images, new special pop-up effects and interactivity into the first 5D attraction in Europe. An impressive rotating platform guides the visitors and players facing the screens, building up the perfect combination of effects and emphasizing the terrifying atmosphere, for a unique and memorable experience for the visitors of TusenFryd.

Nightmare is a ride created by Alterface with theming by Theming and Animatronics Industries (TAA). Based on the success of Castle of Chaos (Branson, MO, USA), with this ride Alterface proves that its interactive 5D haunted house concept can also meet the same enthusiasm in Europe. But while Castle of Chaos was themed by Clostermann Design, this time TAA, a Transylvanian company, was chosen to design providing the animatronic effects and themed environment for the ride. A perfect choice, since the story is set in Transylvania, where an horror movie star disappears in a medieval castle and triggers supernatural events.

Interactivity is the key element of most effects inside this haunted house. The players don't only shoot at screens but also on some parts of the real decor that reacts to the hits with sounds, video projection and also some physical actions: when hit by the visitor's laser pistols, candle lights go on, a cross spins, two scary knights on the walls turn into zombies, a normal mirror sud-

continued on p. 42

La prima attrazione 5D in Europa: una casa fantasma interattiva firmata Alterface con ambientazioni ed effetti animatronici di TAA ha aperto i battenti per questa stagione al TusenFryd

I 5 LATI DELLA PAURA

La notizia più spaventosa dell'anno arriva dalla Norvegia. La grande novità di quest'anno al TusenFryd, il parco più grande della Norvegia, si chiama Nightmare ed è un'attrazione unica nel suo genere, che unisce immagini 3D, nuovi effetti speciali pop-up ed elementi di interattività a formare la prima attrazione 5D in Europa. Un'imponente piattaforma rotante guida i visitatori/concorrenti di fronte ai diversi schermi, creando la combinazione perfetta di effetti speciali ed enfatizzando l'atmosfera di terrore, per un'esperienza unica e indimenticabile per i visitatori del TusenFryd.

Nightmare è un'attrazione firmata Alterface con tematizzazione di Theming and Animatronics Industries (TAA). Dopo il successo di Castle of Chaos (Branson, USA),